

Good afternoon Burlington Danes.

I'm your host (Name and name) for today and will be bringing you the latest news from our school as part of the BBC News day on the 19th March.

What's Happening in Advisory?

This week we've been collecting your news through the tutors.

Ms Goodard would like to commend Milkias from year 8 who wrote a fantastic poem about aerobic respiration for his science homework then read it aloud to the class on Tuesday.

Amanda Bailey wrote a fantastic poem as part of the STRIVE creative writing workshop. She has been commended on her efforts and 9D are very proud of her work!

8N this week were allowed to vote for Mr Crawford's fancy dress outfit for world book day and the winning costume was...The Big Bad Wolf! So all of Year 8 can look forward to seeing Mr Crawford as a wolf next Thursday!

What news around the world is capturing your attention?

10B are talking about Jay Z wanting to feed 1bn people in Africa and the recent clip of Chelsea fans 's racist incident on the Paris Metro is something many of you are talking about. Racism needs to be kicked out of football.

10D, 9B and 12 Durham are talking about the girls travelling to Syria. They ask: why would you travel to such a dangerous and tumultuous place and equally, why has everyone along the way let them get there?

Y12 politics have been discussing civil liberties. They debated Natalie Bennett's (leader of green party) controversial comments that it should not be illegal to belong to a terrorist group. It should only be illegal to act on those ideas. What do you think? Let us know through tutor time and your teacher will pass on your message next week.

What's Tweeting in the departments?

Tweet of the week is from the Dance Department who are talking about the relationship between movement and brain science. Find out more by searching for Ted Talks and contemporary choreographer Wayne McGregor on the internet.

The House News of the week is from Ms Hills who says student leaders for Colossians did an excellent job in the STRIVE fundraising workshop yesterday generating ideas for charity week. She's so proud of their team working skills and creative ideas already.

Finally, we'd like to give a teacher Shout Out because as students, we want to recognise the hard work you do. It goes to Ms Wilson for her hard work in completing the year book from The Year Book Committee. If you want to give a 'shout out' to a teacher go and speak to Ms Patel in 022. Don't forget to add your news into your newbank. Thanks for listening and we will see you next Friday.
